

Buzz Young Inspectors (BYI's)

Who are they?

A group of young people who go out and inspect activities, then rate them to see how accessible and fun they are to children and young people with additional needs.

What do they do?

Visit places such as football groups, drama clubs, climbing groups, youth centres and more. The BYI's aim is to make sure young people with additional needs have fun things to do.

How are places rated?

Using headings such as 'fun' 'staff' 'safe', checking who it is accessible to and the facilities a place has. They use stars to describe what they 'rate' a place overall.

What happens after the BYI's review a place?

The group will share their results with each of the activity groups. They will let them know the things they are good at, and anything they can do better.

Rating system:

- ★ poor
- ★★ okay
- ★★★ good parts
- ★★★★ great
- ★★★★★ amazing!

Sedbergh Centre

What can I do here?

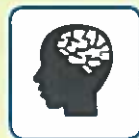

Activity days in the summer school holidays which includes things like crate stacking, BMX track, cake decorating, arts and crafts, sports, Wii Fit and much more.

Who is it for?

Young people aged five to 16 with a disability, and aged up to 11 without a disability. Staff at Sedbergh Centre can support young people with the following needs:

Wheelchair user

Learning needs

Visual impairment

The young inspectors rated Sedbergh Centre as four and a half stars out of a possible five! This is a 'great' summer scheme with 'amazing' parts!

What facilities does it have?

Level access

Accessible toilet

Accessible Parking

Cafe/tuck shop

A few things the BYI's said:

I've seen people make friends here. You get to do what you want to do! You are included in the activities. The staff make you laugh. The staff encourage you to do things. I got to do the same activities as everyone else and that made me feel respected and included.

When does it run?

During the summer (July and August). Dates for 2016 will be available from Sedbergh Community Centre nearer the time. It costs £10 a day if you book in advance.

Where is it?

Sedbergh Community Centre
Huddersfield Rd, Bradford BD6 1DJ
Telephone: 01274 679843 for more information.